Friendships

by John Price

By friendship you mean the greatest love, the greatest usefulness, the most open communication, the noblest suffering, the severest truth, the heartiest counsel, and the greatest union of minds of which brave men and woman are capable. --Jeremy Taylor (1613-67) English Bishop.

Life is to be fortified by many friendships. To love and be loved is the greatest happiness of existence. --Sydney Smith (1772-1845) English divine.

A true friend is a gift of God. --Robert South (1634-1716) English divine.

The only way to have a friend is to be one. --Emerson.

Friendships are indeed divine, and as we enter this next year, let's not forget to count the blessings of friends. This honoring with gratitude will open even more curtains for greater happiness in the New Year. It's all a part of the law of attraction.

Sometimes we take friends for granted and only reach out and touch hearts on special occasions. In other situations we
